Dear Valued Customer,

First Alert/BRK Brands, Inc. (First Alert/BRK) is committed to providing our customers with relevant information relating to the Coronavirus outbreak. We are actively working with our affected supplier base and remain in close communication with our Newell employees located in China.

Currently, First Alert/BRK does not foresee any significant immediate service disruptions. We intend to supply based on our forecast and will continue to explore options to mitigate potential supply chain impacts. Given the dynamic nature of this situation, there is risk of future supply issues which could result in service challenges. Due to this unforeseen impact, we appreciate your partnership in waiving all fines and penalties related to any delayed shipments of products or out of stock products resulting from supply chain disruptions related to the Coronavirus outbreak.

We will provide additional communication if there are supply interruptions that would impact our ability to service you. In the meantime, please contact your First Alert/BRK sales representative with any questions.

Sincerely,
