Corona Virus latest update

Dear customers, colleagues,

New far-reaching measures to combat the coronavirus were announced by the Belgian government yesterday on the 17th of March. These new measures are going into force as from today until the 5th of April. They were decided in coordination with the Belgian National Security Council and the different levels of the Belgian government.

With immediate action Brady has taken these extra measures into account for the safety and health of its employees. Therefore Brady would like to share the following information:

As the welfare of our employees and customers is our key priority, Brady has introduced with immediately a variety of solutions to ensure to keep them safe from harm whilst maintaining our high Brady service level to our customers.

Extra measures are implemented towards all our administrative departments within Brady. Business level continuity stays assured.

Until further notice, Brady's production site and warehouse remains up and running. With high measures taken into account towards our staff like the rule on "social distancing".

Our distributors/customers are still being delivered, hence a delay may occur due to the high impact of cancelled (passenger) flights, border controls etc. that our carriers have to cope with. As informed in our previous statement agreed costs towards shipping can't be guaranteed any longer.

Although all business travel has been halted, Brady has all the technology in order to conduct successful and productive meetings remotely, either by video or audio conference. In case you should have questions related to the status of your Brady products, reach out to your local Brady customer service representative/sales contact.

We continue to keep you up to date as the situation evolves and will do our best to minimize the impact on your/our business.

On behalf of Brady,

Thank you for your patience and support and most of all stay well.
